

Caffe Boa

Bottle Selections

The provenance of these wines are accountable and accurate. This includes ideal storage conditions in our temperature controlled in-house cellar. We gently remove all presence of oxygen in our wines by the glass to sleep nightly, and use adaptive thermostats to keep our white wines by the glass at optimal serving temperature. Enjoy with confidence!

We are proud to feature what we drink personally, natural wines. With almost 200 allowed additives that are legally permitted in wine, we chose to feature wines that complement our food. This means wines made with the least possible use of chemicals, additives and overly technological procedures.

We invite you to first visit our Natural Wines section of the list, and excite your palate with these "Honest Wines"!

Featuring Organic and/or Biodynamic Winemaking/ Natural Wines

Just like our food at Caffe Boa we are proud to offer sustainable, organic, practicing organic and biodynamic wines. They are notated as such following the vintage:

Practicing Sustainable: In order to protect natural resources, winemakers have been embracing sustainable vineyard practices such as: using recycled materials, covering crops to control erosion and improve soil fertility, conserving water with precision irrigation, generating their own electricity, and reducing carbon foot prints.

Organic: Organic wines are made from grapes grown without chemical fertilizers, pesticides, fungicides or herbicides. Instead, grape-growers use materials made from natural elements (plants, minerals, etc.).

Biodynamic: This philosophy attaches great importance to the rhythm of nature - connecting the soil, the vine, the Earth, and the planets. Grapegrowers use only natural preparations made from plants, rock crystal or animal matter, in order to allow the plant to react naturally to its environment.

Practicing Organic or Biodynamic: There are many wineries that practice organic or bio-dynamic techniques, but choose not to be certified. Due to their utilization of these methods, we chose to indicate their practices.

Natural Wines: We are happy to offer what we personally drink, Natural Wines. With permission from our favorite importer Jenny and Francois Selections, NYC:

So what is natural wine?

We present the wines of small vineyards in this competitive worldwide market, in order to defend an endangered species — winemakers who work like artisans, crafting a different wine each year. They do not impose a preconceived taste on their wines, but look to be surprised by what nature gives them — natural wines.

Natural wines are low-tech or no-tech. These are handmade wines in the truest sense from a group of passionate winemakers that go one step further than organic and biodynamic producers by using organic methods in the cellar as well as in the vineyard — meaning no laboratory yeasts, enzymes, sugar, artificial concentrators, acidification, or sulfites are added during fermentation, and the wines are aged and bottled without stabilizers, or excessive filtering or sulfites.

Equally important, these grower-producers take special care to reduce yields, handpick the grapes, avoid pumps or other rough treatment of their harvest, and plow the earth between the vines, which forces the roots to dive down deep in a thirsty search for terroir.

Natural wines, pure wines, real wines, wines from the terroir, complex wines, wines for thirst!

This philosophy of winemaking differentiates these wines from the all too common taste of technology-driven wines, and offers us what wines should — mystery, romance, and adventure!
